I just had to share this with you. This year I decided to make a real effort to be healthier and found out it is not as easy as I thought. The real problem is that getting the information you need is a major task. I thought the internet would be easy, but everything you type in brings hundreds of websites to look at. It was becoming a full time job.

Then my chiropractor Dr. (your name) in (your town), told me because so many people are having the same problem, he started a free service so you can conveniently get all the health information you need to really get healthier.

The service is great, so I asked him if I could share this with some of my friends and family and he said no problem. Here is the link where you can go and sign up if you would like or just listen to some of the information he provides. If you don't like it you can always cancel. Give it a try because as busy as we all are this just takes out some of the burden of trying to do this yourself.

Talk to you soon,
